

THE UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS

U. S. MARINE SERGEANT AND FRENCH SOLDIER

The United States Marine Corps

U. S. MARINES FROM GEORGIA

The Marines, now commonly known as "Devil Dogs," are soldiers of the sea. The dress and the degrees of rank of this corps corresponds more with that of the army than of the navy, although they operate under the control and in co-operation with the latter department.

The establishment of the Marines dates from an early period in American history. During the Revolutionary War the regulations of dress were as follows.

OFFICERS

Coat ----- green cutaway faced with white
Buttons ----- silver
Breeches ----- white edged with green
Vest ----- white
Stockings ----- white
Gaiters ----- black
Hat ----- cocked
Overcoats ----- blue

ENLISTED MEN

Coat ----- faced with red
Buttons ----- pewter
Breeches ----- light colored
Vest ----- white woolen jacket, green shirt
Stockings ----- white woolen
Gaiters ----- black
Hat ----- round hat with a white binding
Overcoats ----- blue

Officers and men wore powdered hair; flour was issued the men for this purpose.

The modern dress of the Marines, however, has a tendency to retain the green shade in its uniform, but its modern color-tones differ greatly from the ornate embellishments of early days.

In all wars the "estimate of the situation" has been "The Marines have landed and the situation is well in hand."

UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS STAFF DEVICES

Adjutant and Inspector's Department:

Crossed sword and fasces in gold, silver wreath and enclosing red, white and blue enamel shield.

Quartermaster's Department:

Crossed sword and key in gold, gold wheel with blue enamel rim and thirteen gold stars.

Paymaster's Department:

Crossed sword and quill in gold with silver leaf.

With the service uniforms these devices are in bronze.

INSIGNE OF RANK

OFFICERS

The rank badges of the Marine corps are similar to those used in the United States

Army, the degrees of rank being the same.

ENLISTED

The insigne of rank is in the form of chevrons worn point upward, midway between the elbow and the shoulder. The service chevrons are smaller in size and slightly darker in shade than the color of the coat. In the dress uniform these chevrons are of yellow silk.

Sergeant Major: Three stripes and an arc of three.

Quartermaster Sergeant: Three stripes and three bars.

Gunnery Sergeant: Three stripes, a bursting bomb, two crossed rifles.

Drum Major: Three stripes, three bars, with star between.

Sergeant: Three stripes.

Corporal: Two stripes.

Lance Corporal: One stripe.

U. S. MARINES FIRING A SALUTE OVER THE GRAVES OF AMERICAN HEROES

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS AWARDED TO MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS, 1917 - 1926 WORLD WAR

BROWN, Dilmus—In the Bois-de-Belleau, France, June 11, 1918; Res., Comer, Madison County, Georgia; Born, Jackson County, Georgia; G. O. No. 71, W. D. 1919.

PRIVATE, 55th Company 5th Regiment, U. S. Marine Corps 2nd Division.

After all the other members of his squad had become casualties Private Brown, single-handed, charged and captured a hostile machine gun.

Posthumously awarded, medal presented to his father John J. Brown.

MINCEY, George Alexander—At Chateau Thierry, France, June 6, 1918; Res., Ogeechee, Screven County; Born, Ogeechee, Screven County; G. O. No. 110, W. D. 1918.

CORPORAL, 55th Co., 5th Regiment, 2nd Division.

Killed in action at Chateau-Thierry, France, June 6, 1918, he gave the supreme proof of that extraordinary heroism which will serve as example to hitherto untried troops.

Posthumously awarded, medal presented to his father George Mincey.

O'KELLEY, Grover Cleveland—In the Bois-de-Belleau France, June 6-8, 1918; Res., Blountsville; Born, Planter, Madison County, Georgia; G. O. No. 46, W. D. 1920.

SERGEANT, 80th Co., 6th Regiment, 2nd Division.

In the attack upon the enemy Machine-gun position in the woods, Sergeant O'Kelley led his platoon with great courage. During the advance the assault section came under cross fire of enemy machine gun fire and all were killed or wounded.

OVERTON, Macon Caldwell—Near Blanc Mont, France, October 2-10, 1918; Res., Union Point, Greene County, Georgia; Born, Union Point, Greene County, Georgia; G. O. No. 34, W. D. 1919.

CAPTAIN, 6th Regiment, 2nd Division.

For repeated act of extraordinary heroism in action near Blanc Mont, France, October 2-10, 1918. When his battalion was halted by severe fire, Captain Overton attacked and reduced one strong enemy machine-gun nest, and moving forward, captured one field piece which was firing point blank at his company. He was wounded the next day, but he refused to be evacuated, and continued to lead his command with skill and courage throughout the engagement. On October 8th, after occupying St. Etienne without casualties in his company, Captain Overton went through heavy artillery and machine-gun fire to establish liaison with another company, his conspicuous gallantry inspiring his men to repel two strong counter-attacks.

Oak-leaf cluster.

For the following act of extraordinary heroism in action near St. Georges, France, November 1, 1918, Captain Overton is awarded an oak-leaf cluster, to be worn with the distinguished-service cross.

He displayed remarkable courage in leading his company under heavy artillery fire and silencing five machine-gun nests. He then personally undertook to guide a tank forward against machine-gun position and while so doing was seriously wounded by a German anti-tank sniper.

Posthumously awarded. Medal presented to his mother, Mrs. Margaret Overton.

U. S. S. CYCLOPS

ADMIRAL WILLIAM SHEPHERD BENSON

William Shepherd Benson was born in Macon, Ga., September 25, 1855, the son of Richard Aaron and Catherine Elizabeth Brewer Benson. Mrs. Benson, nee Catherine Elizabeth Brewer was the first graduate of the Wesleyan College for Women, Macon, Ga.; the first woman's college in the world to confer degrees on women. After a preliminary education in his natal city, he received an appointment to the United States Naval Academy, from which he graduated in 1877. On August 6, 1879 he married Miss Mary Augusta Wyse of Baltimore, Md.

Since his graduation from Annapolis William S. Benson has served on various assignments at the United States Naval Academy, and afloat in all duties as high as Division and Squadron Commander. In 1913-15 he was commandant of the Navy Yard at Philadelphia. On May 11, 1915

Admiral Benson was made chief of Naval Operations, and in 1917 he was appointed by President Wilson as a member of a commission to confer with the Allied Powers of Europe. He also served abroad as a member of a special committee in October 1918, and as naval representative of the United States he assisted in drawing up the terms of the Armistice between Germany and the Central Powers, and served as naval advisor to the American Commission to Negotiate Peace. Admiral Benson returned to the United States on June 20, 1919, and continued as Chief of Naval Operations until September 25, 1919, when he was retired by operations of law, having spent forty-seven years in active service. He was recommended to Congress by the President to be made permanent Admiral for life. In 1920, Admiral Benson was appointed chairman of the United States Shipping Board, and the following year was appointed by President

Harding, commissioner of the same board.

The following honors have been bestowed upon Admiral William S. Benson: Distinguished Service Medal; Grand Cross of the

ADMIRAL WILLIAM S. BENSON
Chief of Naval Operation during The World War

Legion of Honor (Fr), Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George (Br), Order of the Rising Sun, 1st class (Japan), Order of St. Gregory the Great (Pope Benedict XV), Gold Medal, State of New Mexico, Sword by the United Daughters of the Confederacy of Georgia, etc.

Admiral William Shepherd Benson died May 20, 1932 at Washington, D. C.

Georgia as a State has never fittingly honored her illustrious son who served so gallantly, so efficiently and so honorably for forty-seven years in active service in the United States Navy. Few Americans have enjoyed a more distinguished record.

COLORED BATTLE DEATHS

WOUNDED

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

The Colored Soldier of Georgia

Accustomed to look for direction and guidance from someone in whom he has confidence, and schooled in the matter of obeying orders issued by others but entirely ignorant of the rules and routine of military life, the colored draftee soon adopted himself to the situation and became most efficient. Many negroes were accustomed to the use of shot-guns in their favorite sport "rabbit-hunting," which made them more familiar with fire arms than many of the men who came into the armed forces of the Nation from the larger cities of the North. Then, too, they were inured to hardships and rough life which made them ideal for use in the labor battalions and stevedore corps, a most necessary form of military service.

Most of the negroes of Georgia were drafted and a good number of these sent into the 92nd and 93rd Divisions.

Georgia may say:

"Have I seen peace?
 Three times my men have marched away
 To fight for peace each one did say,
 And never one returned to tell
 If peace can come from war and hell.
 At Gettysburg my father fell;
 So bravely smiled he in gray,
 And valiantly turned and rode away
 To bring us peace.

Have I seen peace?
 On San Juan Hill my husband lost
 A life for peace, at death's grave cost,
 Nor doubted that, in passing on,
 His dream of lasting peace was won.
 And now in Flanders lies my son:
 "For peace I'll fight," no doubt was there—
 He fought a noble war and fair,
 A wondering glint in dying stare!
 Was that his peace?

Have I seen peace?
 Three heard war's commanding call:
 Three left their homes, renounced their all!
 For peace is somewhere—three to die
 Before they found where peace can lie!
 Have I seen peace?

This poem was written by Miss Dorothy McKay, of Macon, Ga., a graduate of Wesleyan College, now living in New York City.
